

EMBLEMS OF LIBERTY

America's First Flag and the Old Liberty Bell.

THE TWO RELICS TOGETHER.

Patriotic People Placed the Flag on the Bell that Proclaimed Liberty Throughout the Land—How the Day Was Observed at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, July 5.—The world's fair was ablaze with patriotism yesterday. It was the center from the patriotic pulse of a liberty loving people, enjoying the manifold blessings of a land of the free and a home of the brave beat through the nation. There were many in the white city whose minds went back to that glorious Fourth of July of the centennial year in the Quaker city, when commencing with the tolling of the midnight hour, the patriotic pulses of a populace ran riot; when for more than half a day, men and women, old and young, native and alien, marched almost without a break up Chestnut street and saluted with bared heads and ringing shouts the old landmark of liberty in Independence square: when Sherman and Sheridan, and Dom Pedro, all now numbered with those that have gone, stood arm in arm before the old liberty bell and bowed their heads in reverence and honor.

WORLD'S FAIR—THE LIBERTY BELL.

Seventeen years have elapsed since these stirring scenes were enacted, and yesterday in the metropolis of the west, the second world's exposition of the republic gave occasion for a still greater demonstration of love of flag and country, one which in its magnitude and impressiveness kept pace with the growth of the country in the intervening years, and with the magnitude of the Columbian exposition as compared with those that have gone before it.

Chicago's 2,000,000 of permanent population kept holiday and 500,000 strangers from outside points, far and near, helped it to celebrate. All over the city, in the suburban residence districts as well as in the commercial center the usual stillness of the night was broken by the cracking and booming of fire works and the shouts of merry-makers who were making a night of it so that the world's fair Fourth might be appropriately ushered in with true American spirit. Day broke to the accompaniment of a salute of 100 guns from the gunboats in the lake and the reverberations of the cannon awoke the sleepers and gave them notice that it was time to be up and moving.

The procession southward to Jackson park began as early as 6 o'clock, when the Illinois Central started the first of its two-masted trains, each car filled to the doors, and from that hour on the steam, cable and elevated roads, as well as the big steamboats plying the lake, found their facilities taxed as never before. "Old Glory" was to be seen everywhere, hundreds of thousands of them, some of the avenues leading to Jackson park being literally lined with tri-colored bunting, and the stars and stripes, as though in honor of the coming of some conquering hero. Nearly everybody out of doors, too, wore either a button of the stars and stripes or a miniature flag, or a tiny bit of tri-colored ribbon.

When the numerous gates of the big enclosure were opened at 7 o'clock the ticket men at each found a crowd awaiting them, and thenceforward there was a ceaseless click-click as the turnstiles revolved and the mass of humanity pressed inward. The grounds themselves had taken on some of the glory of Solomon.

Thousands of people who originally intended to enter the fair grounds by the Stony Island avenue gates were so entranced by the unparalleled sight which met their eyes on reaching the Plaisance entrance by the cable trains that they at once joined in the patriotic pleasure seeking procession which for hours filled the broad Plaisance from side to side. Across the Plaisance from Cottage Grove avenue to the Stony Island avenue viaduct which forms the east entrance inside the grounds were strung at intervals of a few yards the prettiest arrangement of bannerets and Chinese lanterns that the eye of man ever beheld. On each side of the Plaisance throughout its whole length were also dancing fluttering lines of the same heterogeneous colored mass connecting with the cross lines.

Midway Plaisance is at all times gorgeous in decoration and constant variation of scene but the display made by the people of all nations in honor of Uncle Sam's birthday anniversary changed the whole aspect of the cosmopolitan thoroughfare. The moving mass of humanity seemed to be passing under one huge continuous canopy of ever-changing bright colors.

In the white city itself the extra decorations in honor of the day were to be seen at every turn on every flagstaff and pavilion, foreign and state building and every place where a flag or banner could be fixed to harmonize with the artistic surroundings.

The landscape was aglow with the glorious flag of freedom and every human being, no matter if his birthplace was in the Orient, the Arctic region, or the torrid zone, seemed to enter the spirit of the American day, with a hearty desire to make it memorable in the history of the republic.

The exercises of the day had a prelude in a procession of the leading participants. It left the city hall at 9 o'clock with a company of the Second regiment headed by its band, to blaze its way over the boulevards. Heading the line was a carriage occupied by Mrs. Perry Stafford of Martha's Vineyard and two lady friends, who held and at intervals waved a priceless relic in the form of the original flag under which Paul Jones sailed with the authority of congress.

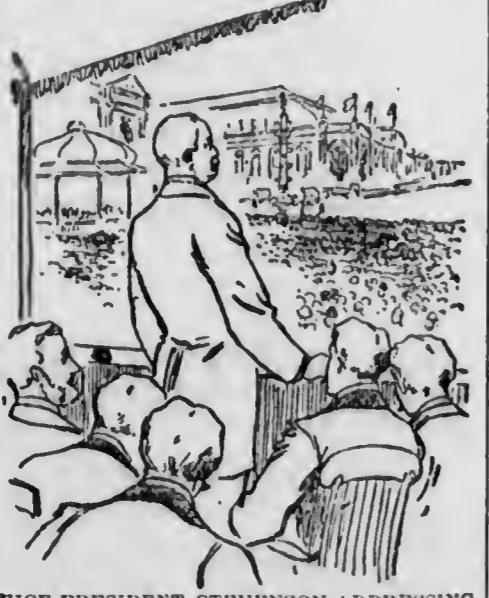

Behind came carriages containing Mayor Harrison and the city officials, the members of the board of aldermen and the members of the liberty bell committee, headed by W. O. McDowell of New Jersey. The procession moved slowly for the boulevard.

From curb to curb the street was packed with vehicles of all descriptions carrying their owners and guests toward the park, and it was nearly 11 o'clock when it reached the Fifty-seventh street entrance. Here a remarkable reception awaited it. Inside the gate, lining the roadway six deep in military order, 20,000 exposition exhibitors of all nations were drawn up. Every man carried an American flag, and each division according to its building or department was headed by the department chief and a band. The procession passed through the ranks, the exhibitors uncovered and waved their flags, while the bands broke forth in unison with the "Star Spangled Banner."

When the mayor's carriage had reached the head of the column, the word of command was given, the exhibitors faced ranks southward, and the combined procession moved through the grounds, bringing up in the immense plaza between the administration building and the terminal station. A portion of the space had been filled in with chairs and benches and extemporized stands, while in the rear enough standing-room had been left for 100,000 people who were willing to join in singing the patriotic music, even if they couldn't get within a quarter of a mile of earshot of the speeches. In front of the terminal building, facing west, a spacious grand stand had been erected, and long before the arrival of the parade an ocean of faces were turned toward it, each wearing a look of good-natured expectancy.

During the wait, the concourse was entertained with national airs that stirred its blood and kept in enthusiastic mood. Three bands were grouped on the floor—the Second Regiment, Pullman and the Chicago band. Silas G. Pratt was conductor of all. He stood on the stairway a few feet above the heads of the musicians with a program of the music in one hand and a book in the other, using both as batons to bring out the volume of patriotic melody to its fullest extent and in the most harmonious unison. They played the "Doxology," "Red, White and Blue," "Star Spangled Banner" and "America" while the multitude applauded after each selection.

The concourse had need of patience for it was not until 11:30 that director General Davis arm in arm with Vice President Stevenson appeared at the head of the steps leading to the platform, and a mighty shout went up from 200,000 throats. Behind the director general and the vice president came the mayor and corporation, the national commissioners and board of directors, the lady managers and several hundred special guests of the occasion. Below the platform were the members of the Columbian chorus, men and women, 1,500 hundred of them each with a big flag that later on was to be waved in triumph to signalize the touch of the electric button that was to dedicate the new liberty bell a thousand miles eastward across the continent.

VICE PRESIDENT STEVENSON ADDRESSING THE PEOPLE.

While the guests were being seated on the platform, renewed enthusiasm was created by the appearance of the venerable but sprightly woman from Martha's Vineyard, Mass.—Mrs. Stafford—who carried in a cardboard box her precious possession, the first American flag. She kept it close to her as she smiled and bowed her acknowledgments to the cheering multitude. She was given a seat underneath the small flagpole erected for the purpose of receiving the flag, which was fastened to the line ready for the hoisting by Mrs. Stafford's infirm hand at the stroke of 12 o'clock.

When the last of the guests had been seated, Director General Davis brought his gavel down on the table and called the multitude to order. Rev. Dr. John Henry Burrows had been announced to deliver the opening prayer, but he was absent, and in his place Rev. Dr. Canfield of the Universalist church was introduced. "While these scenes have changed from a wilderness to civilization," he said, "the God of our fathers has always been with the people of the republic." He prayed for divine blessing upon the president of the United States and all others assisting him in authority. All joined in the final prayer, "Our Father, which art in heaven," in low but distinct tones, which could be heard by the multitude like the murmur of the sea.

Vice President Stevenson was now introduced. As he stepped to the front of the platform he was greeted with a rousing cheer. He spoke in stentorian tones with considerable emphasis and gesticulation and succeeded in getting his sentiments to the hearing of the great majority by those before and about him.

The address was brief and to the point, and was frequently interrupted with applause, and it increased tenfold as the vice president retired.

Then S. G. Pratt of New York came to the edge of the platform and at a wave of the baton the chorus rose and commenced the opening stanzas of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

By the time the chorus was reached the audience was wild with enthusiasm, and it joined in their refrain with vim and vigor, tons of thousands of arms waving the stars and stripes overhead. It was a stirring spectacle but it was to be intensified later on. When the singing had ceased it was the turn of Mayor Carter Harrison to speak for the world's fair city.

At the stroke of noon the Paul Jones flag was hoisted, and the electric button, marking the new liberty bell now at Troy, N. Y., was pressed by Mrs. Madge Morris Wagner, and Miss Minnie F. Mickle of San Diego Cal.

TWO EMBLEMS MEET.

The First American Flag Placed on the Old Liberty Bell.

CHICAGO, July 5.—America's first flag and the silent old bell of liberty met in Pennsylvania's building under memorably dramatic circumstances yesterday afternoon. The meeting was as distinct a feature of the day's celebration as it was spontaneous, the promptings of patriotic hearts. The Paul Jones flag presented by the United States congress to Lieutenant Stafford and now owned by his descendant, Mrs. H. R. B. Stafford, has never come into physical contact with the bell from Independence Hall which proclaimed liberty to all the world.

It was at the Columbian liberty bell exercises in the Delaware state building that the idea of laying the faded old emblem of liberty on Philadelphia's historic treasure originated. National Commissioner Woodside of the Keystone state made the suggestion and it was quickly acquiesced in. A procession was hastily formed, the leaders being Chairman McDowell of the liberty bell committee and Mrs. Stafford hugging the relic of the revolution to her feeble form as a mother would press her child to her breast in an hour of danger. In the procession were the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, members of the Columbian liberty bell committee, the Hermitage association of Nashville, officers and members of the National Martha Washington association and the Society of Human Freedom, whose emblem floated from the platform of administration plaza in the morning.

The great silk flag made by women throughout the land and presented to the board of lady managers was borne aloft in the procession from the Delaware to the Pennsylvania building, where an immense crowd of people had poured in all day to pay homage to the decorated bell. It was a patriotic pilgrimage which everybody enjoyed, and the two Philadelphia policemen in charge of the bell were the proudest Americans on the grounds. Commissioner Woodside and Mr. McDowell addressed the people, "America" and "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" were sung by the assembly, and one of the bell's guardians taking the Paul Jones flag tenderly from the hands of Mrs. Stafford inside the railing spread its fold over the bell while the people applauded.

The exercises at the Delaware building had not been sufficiently announced to bring a full house. Chairman McDowell of the bell committee presided. Captain Wyman, executive commissioner for Rhode Island, spoke in a patriotic vein, and Miss Pearl Wagner of San Diego, Cal., recited her mother's historic poem, "The Liberty Bell." Commissioner Woodside of Pennsylvania delivered an address.

Mrs. Frank Stewart Osborn of Chicago read Howard Hawthorne Magee's poem, "The New Liberty Bell." It was well received.

Miss Mary Desha of Kentucky, vice president of the Daughters of the Revolution; Mrs. Gordon of Georgia and other women spoke briefly.

Columbian Bell Struck.

ALBANY, July 5.—Hundreds gathered yesterday at the Menley bell foundry, Troy, to hear the Columbian liberty bell strike. At 1 o'clock word came from Chicago that it was ready for ringing the bell. Two workmen held a 60-pound clapper, which Mr. Chester Menley guided while six blows were struck on the bell, which was in the foundry yard, mouth upward. The notes sounded deep and melodious, and the assembled gathering cheered and cheered again.

Wonderful Feats on a Wire.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 5.—Fully 10,000 people saw Clifford Calvery perform some wonderful feats on his wire stretched across Niagara gorge. He beat all time records by running across the wire at full speed in two minutes, 53-5.

COLORADO SILVER MINES CLOSED.

Hundreds of Men Out of Employment and Business Paralyzed.

DENVER, Colo., July 5.—The silver mines of the state are practically closed and the men who have busied themselves driving tunnels and sinking shafts and drifting through great ore bodies under ground find their occupations gone. Men who never before knew an idle moment are now walking the streets in the mining camps of the state. Of the 318 mines employing men all are closed. They have operated for nearly a year at loss, expecting daily that the white metal would be recognized as a money metal and the price go up.

Some of the mines are still pumping water at enormous expense, until it is seen what congress will do, for it would be expensive to them to let them fill with water. The depression has affected all lines of business in the state. In Denver forces of stores have been reduced and in many instances wages have been cut, but they will be immediately restored when the price of silver goes up. Of course the big gold mines of the state are still working and many will continue, but there is no disguising the fact that the closing of the silver mines will cut off the gold supply for many of them carry gold.

CONFESED TO MURDER.

Henry Starr Guilty of Killing a United States Marshal.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 5.—Henry Starr who was arrested Sunday with John Wilson, confesses that he is the man wanted for killing the United States marshal at Fort Smith, Ark., but he claims it was in self defense. His alleged wife admits his identity. United States Marshal Crum wires that requisition papers are now on the way and that Starr and Wilson must be held until his arrival.

Special Agent Taylor of the Santa Fe, who is in this city, thinks the two men robbed the train at Cimarron on June 20 last. Starr will stand charged with every crime upon the calendar—murder, train and bank robbery, whisky selling, etc. Starr is only 22 years of age, and began his career of crime only about a year ago. There are rewards amounting to $3,000 for his arrest.

BULLETS IN A COURTROOM.

An Arkansas Husband Shoots the Slayer of His Wife.

TEXARKANA, Ark., July 5.—While the examining trial of R. E. Lee, for the killing of Mrs. Jessie Hale, which occurred in this city, was in progress before Justice Edwards, Hale, the husband of the deceased woman, entered the courtroom with two little daughters, and, advancing to where Lee was sitting in the prisoner's dock, seating his children, and, drawing a revolver, opened fire on the slayer of his wife.

Hale fired five times, the second shot striking Lee in the thigh and making a dangerous wound. Lee owes his life to a large stove, behind which he took refuge. The scene in the courtroom was a wild one, judge, lawyers and witnesses taking refuge from the flying bullets. Hale was placed under arrest, and Lee's trial postponed to await the result of his injuries.

FINALLY SUCCEEDED.

A Man Commits Suicide After Making Seven Attempts.

TRENTON, July 5.—Edward Ott, 50 years old, a wire-drawer, succeeded in committing suicide after having made seven different attempts. Six weeks ago, while in the state prison for wife-beating, he attempted suicide by leaping from one of the upper corridors to the stone floor below. He broke both of his legs and lacerated his face in a horrible manner, necessitating the amputation of one foot.

A few days ago he was removed from the hospital to his home, not being entirely cured. Early yesterday morning he went to the cellar, threw a piece of wire over a beam, and twisted a noose about his neck. He then jumped from the grindstone on which he had been standing and very nearly severed his head from his body.

FOURTH OF JULY ACCIDENT.

Four Firemen Injured by the Bursting of a Cannon.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., July 5.—At fire department headquarters about midnight a cannon burst and seriously injured four firemen. They had been celebrating and were loading the cannon preparatory to firing the last charge. Fred Kipp was holding the cannon on his legs and Charles Carroll was ramming the charge home.

The cannon was hot and exploded prematurely. The butt was blown through Kipp's right leg, cutting it off nearly to the thigh so that it hung only by a shred of flesh. Carroll had both hands blown off. Henry McLaren and Will Rettich, who were standing near, were struck by pieces of the cannon and severely, but not fatally, injured.

Base Ball Player Injured.

CLEVELAND, July 5.—The chances are that Cleveland is no longer a factor in the pennant race, not unless a good third baseman can be secured. In sliding to second yesterday morning Tebeau was unintentionally spiked by a Brooklyn player, and the spike caught in his knee throwing it around and out of joint. He will not play again this season and may be permanently injured.

Bridge Burned.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 5.—The Moses Coulee bridge, on the Great Northern railroad, burned. It was 924 feet long and 185 feet wide. It will take three weeks to replace the bridge, during which time passengers will be transferred.

A MORMON SCHEME.

Sensational Story Told by a Well Known Minister.

SECURING A POWERFUL LEVER.

Money Being Raised For the Purpose of Buying a Majority of the Members in the Next House of Congress to Enact Certain Laws That Will Benefit Them. The Scheme Being Kept a Profound Secret.

FINDLAY, O., July 5.—Rev. J. Wesley Hill, of Helena, Mon., who is now visiting here, was in the city, and during a conversation with a reporter of The Republican, disclosed a story which, for sensational features, surpasses anything ever before made known to the American public.

Rev. Hill's brilliant career in the west is well known here, and his position has enabled him to obtain information denied to all others. His sterling integrity removes all doubt as to the authenticity of his information and its truthfulness. Said he: "I was for some time pastor of the First Methodist church of Ogden, U. T., and connected with the university in addition to my pastoral work. Naturally I was thrown into constant contact with the Mormon element and appreciate the crying evils of that belief. These people have for some time appreciated the rapidly increasing power of the opposition to them and also the fact that their tenure in their present location can be but temporary unless they can bring some powerful agency to bear. And this they have in the shape of money, which they are now preparing to use upon a gigantic scale.

"During the past year they have been raising among themselves by an assessment upon each disciple of the belief the sum of $1,000,000 which they have now raised ostensibly for the purpose of completing their temple and their buildings upon which they have already expended $3,000,000, but which is designed for the purpose of buying a majority in the next house of congress to secure their fixed rights to their present location by securing the vested power of statehood. With this they would be beyond reach of interruption and opposition in the future. Their agents are even now at work in Washington and have been for months, and the money is at their disposal to use with unscrupulous freedom.

"The scheme has been long contemplated and they have great hopes of its success as it has been carried on with great secrecy. The mass of the people who contributed the money have been kept in ignorance of its object in order that all danger of the secret being revealed might be removed. My information is obtained from the most indisputable sources, and the people should be warned of the daring purposes of those people that their ends may be frustrated."

PEOPLE'S PARTY IN OHIO.

State Convention Held and a Complete Ticket Nominated.

COLUMBUS, O., July 5.—The People's party of Ohio met in convention here yesterday. Charles R. Martin of Tiffin, secretary-treasurer of the state organization, called the convention to order. He read the call for the convention, showing that each county was entitled to two delegates-at-large and one additional delegate for every 25 votes cast for Solon C. Thayer, the People's party candidate for governor in 1891, making the total number 476.

Mr. Martin then announced the temporary organization as follows: Chairman, F. D. Dunakin; secretary, N. J. Creager; assistants, W. R. Voiles and C. O. Wilson.

The afternoon session began with the report of the committee on credentials, who reported no contests and 405 delegates present.

The committee on permanent organization reported as follows: Chairman, Hugh Cavanaugh; secretary, C. J. Creager; assistant secretary, C. Q. Wilson; sergeant-at-arms, Amos A. Bowers; assistant sergeant-at-arms, J. F. Lederer.

The committee on resolutions finally appeared and submitted its report, which was adopted and the platform of the party made. The platform is almost identical with that proposed by the Cuyahoga convention, and on national issues reaffirms the principles of the Omaha convention. It refers to the tariff issue as a sham, denounces both of the old parties for surrendering to the British bankers and Wall street agents, and demands municipal ownership of street railways, water and gas plants and all similar franchises. The ticket nominated is as follows:

For governor—E. J. Bracken.
Lieutenant governor—Milton D. Cooley of Athens.

Treasurer—William H. Taylor.
Attorney general—Colonel J. H. Rhodes.

Judge of supreme court—Captain C. T. Clarke.

Dairy and food commissioner—Thomas N. Hickman.

Member board of public works—Matthew Baber.

Just before adjournment a delegate created a sensation by introducing a resolution calling upon congress to impeach President Cleveland on the ground of high treason in that he, as a representative of the British money power, is a traitor to this country. The resolution was received with wild cheers and adopted by a unanimous vote.

DENVER, July 5.—The five daily papers in this city have asked composers to accept a reduction from 50 to 40 cents a thousand ems. The printers say they will not accept.

The Ashland correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette got his paper into serious trouble last week by wiring them that the Merchants' National Bank had struck "the bottom of its vaults" and was in financial distress. The C. G. has since published two or three corrections and the managing editor made an apology in person.

"Three years ago the McKinley bill," says the Cleveland Plain-Dealer, "was passed, increasing protection to wool, and the price of wool began going down until its market selling price is more than 30 per cent. less than it was immediately preceding the passage of the bill. And still in face of the facts McKinley and his followers continue to preach high protection to the farmers who are being crushed beneath its burdens. McKinley and McKinleyism must go and go for good this time. No farmer can vote for him without voting against his own interests."

COUNTY CULLINGS.

Items Picked Up by the Bulletin's Correspondents in Mason and Elsewhere.

MAYSLEICK.

Crops of all kinds are looking well. Vegetation of all kinds is looking well. We are having some nice summer weather. Fine weather for hay. Crop of grass good. J. W. Myall, of Nepton, came over last Friday on a business trip.

Wheat harvest is now in full blast. Large crop and quality good.

We had fine rains on Friday and Saturday, which stopped wheat cutting for a time.

J. A. Jackson's eyes are improving slowly, but 'tis yet with great difficulty he reads and writes.

Following are the Christian Endeavor delegates from the Mayslick society to Montreal: F. M. Tlinder, Geo. Longnecker, Miss Susie Fox, Miss Mary Fitch, Miss Mary Clay, Miss Mary Mitchell, Miss Mattie Berry, Miss Anna Myall, Miss Berta Caldwell, Mrs. Lizzie Duke, Mrs. Zuba Fox. The party left Monday.

Joseph B. Brown and wife, J. A. Jackson and wife and son went to Washington last Sunday to hear Elder John I. Rogers, an old "soldier of the cross," who is holding a meeting in the Christian Church. He is seventy-two years old and a son of Uncle Samuel Rogers, one among the first movers in the reformation.

Mrs. Joe M. Brown, of this place, on the 28th ult., gave a superb dining, which was a most enjoyable one, and was greatly enjoyed by all present. The hostess was all smiles and nothing was omitted that would add to the comfort and enjoyment of all. Among those present were: Miss Jennie Evans, Mrs. Jonas Myall, Mrs. Julia A. Longnecker, Mrs. J. D. Raymond and daughter Bettie, Mr. Andrew Boyd and wife, Mr. Miss Mary Raymond, of Milldale, and J. A. Jackson, wife and son, of the Stonecraft House. May the good Lord spare us all to meet again.

A very pleasant crowd of young couples numbering ten went to the Blue Licks Wednesday evening of last week. The trip was a most enjoyable one. The following were present, viz: Dr. J. H. Kelley and Miss Fannie Laytham, H. W. Forman and Miss Addie P. Gooding, Joe E. Caldwell and Miss May L. Miller, A. W. Fox and Miss Lydia Laytham, Wm. E. Pogue and Miss Scott Laytham, John Laytham and Miss Bessie Prather, E. Matthews and Miss Florence Robb, G. W. Gooding and Miss Alice D. Fox, R. B. Yancey and Miss Susie Fox, S. M. Myall and Miss Bertie Caldwell. Although the band was absent they had their home talent to rely upon. The evening was spent in dancing, promenading, card playing and other "amusements" of the day. The proprietor, Mr. Morford, complimented the company as a whole and singly, by saying that it was one of the best behaved and handsomest crowds that he has had the pleasure of entertaining. The genial hospitality of the landlord and his lady, together with the supper that they served, made atonement for the absence of the orchestra.

FAKES AND FRAUDS.

They Are Numerous at the "World's Fair"—Disgraceful Doings.

Dances and Performances That Would Cause the Shameless to Blush.

The Cincinnati Enquirer has taken the lead in exposing the fakes and frauds at the World's Fair. Its Chicago correspondent says some of the shows to be seen in the Midway Plaisance would not be permitted to have even their signs out—not to mention the nasty performances themselves—in a city like Cincinnati. If that's true they must be "tough."

"Thousands of innocent visitors and unsophisticated strangers have fallen victims to many of the Midway fakes," says the correspondent. He adds: "As long as there are no ladies among the party thus imposed upon such a visit may do no harm, but the writer has actually seen respectable and refined parties of ladies persuaded to enter some of the disgraceful Midway exhibitions. Blushing with shame they turned their backs to the nasty performances which were going on inside and left the establishments disgusted with the indecent and suggestive exhibitions which members of their own sex were making of themselves."

In describing the many "fakes" and disgusting exhibitions in the Plaisance, the correspondent says:

"When entering the Midway the attention of the sight-seer is at first drawn to the International dress and costume exhibit. Here are between forty and fifty typical representatives of different nationalities, races and types clad in their native costumes. All of them are women. They are said to be imported from the different countries, especially from the Orient; but as a matter of fact half of the girls were born and raised in Chicago, while the other of the inmates are imported French women who seem to like the business."

"Opposite this is located the Irish Village and Barney Castle. Ireland is well represented, but as usual, some Irish fake must be within its walls to attract the 'auld Pat and Maggie' who pass by in large numbers. Barney Castle, of course, has a 'blarney stone' and at that the 'only original Irish blarney stone, especially brought over from Ireland.' On top of the castle it is located, about 12 by 16. A true Irish lad is sitting near, gathering dimes from every one who wishes to kiss this wonderful stone. Hundreds and hundreds 'Auld Lang Syne' people kiss the stone, and the boys gets more silver dimes than he can safely carry."

"The inscription above the blarney stone reads as follows:
"This is the stone that whoever kisses
He never misses to grow eloquent,
A clever spouter he'll turn out,
Or an oin and outter in Parliament."

"How sore those honest kisses will feel when they learn that the only and true blarney stone is still located at its almost inaccessible position at Barney Castle, Ireland, and that the stone which they kissed was picked off a Chicago turnpike and is one of the biggest frauds on record."

"At Cairo, in Egypt, it is admitted by every traveler, people all but rob you of everything you have, but in this Midway-Cairo, if you can escape with a few dollars left in your pocket you can consider yourself fortunate. In the narrow streets the dirty little Nubians and Arabs continually are crowding up to you, asking for 'Bakish, Bakish,' while the camel drivers and donkey-keepers make one believe that Bedlam itself had been let loose. They drive their animals at such a rate through the streets that even a Cincinnati copper would find it impossible to put a stop to their mad career. Besides these numerous street fakirs, one finds himself confronted at every little shop by some never-to-be-seen-again side-show. On entering, which costs 25 cents, one would gladly give another 25 in order to get out as fast as possible."

"Last, but not least, among the Cairo 'attractions' is the Egyptian theater. Here no acting as we see it, even in the lowest of American stage life, is going on, but in this place we have a true representation of the characteristic Oriental love for sensual suggestions. In this theater about ten Egyptian girls do not hesitate to crowd the limit of public endurance."

"The feature of the theater is the Oriental 'dance,' if we may apply that word to this exhibition. With the idea of dance we instinctively associate that of grace, that of youth and that of beauty. But here one finds himself viewing a 'dance' in which there is no movement of the limbs and the feet are not lifted from the floor. But it is the 'dance de ventre,' which explains this feature; the movement of the lower limbs is not required; if they would be moved the dance would be destroyed; besides, the dance is not danced for the pleasure of the dancer or as an expression of happiness or for its grace, but simply for exciting the senses of the beholder. The girls do their nasty performances because they don't know better. They have been used to these movements from their childhood up."

"The dance is nothing but a nervous contortion of the abdominal muscles, continual contraction and expansion, up and down, to and fro, and this monotonous and at the same time indecent exhibition is going on from morning early till night late. The dancers, after they get through with their part, retire to a cigarette and bottle of beer and a rest until it is time to do their turn again in the list of the ten girls who disport themselves upon the stage of the theater in the streets of Cairo. No restraint, or appearance of restraint at least, is enforced in this theater or in the Persian Palace. For instance, in the other many dancing theaters no attempt is made to suggest the nakedness of the dancing girls about the hips as is done in the streets of Cairo. 'The girls in Cairo are apparently nude to the waist, and it takes close observation on the part of the spectator to become convinced that they are really not exposed, at least technically, for there is a pink spider-web over them."

"There is no restraint, and a dance goes on that was not allowed by the officials of the Paris Exposition, and goes beyond the limits of the same dance and dancers in the real streets of Cairo."

"Eastward from the Ferris Wheel stands the Persian Theater, a monument to the god Bacchus and the goddess Isis. The theater of Cairo was bad, but the Persian Theater is worse. It is nasty, disgusting—in a word, it is a disgrace to the Columbian Exposition. Words cannot describe the indecent and immoral actions of the inmates."

"The movements and actions of the girl dancers are shameful, to say the least. There are but one or two Persian women in this temple, the rest are imported French girls. The management is French and its guilty conscience would not admit newspaper men, one of the gate-keepers priding herself that over fifteen well-known newspaper men had been refused admittance that evening. The reason is obvious, and, being afraid of public exposure through the columns of the press, they decided to bar all reporters and press people. The evening on which The Enquirer visited the establishment he passed incognito and taking a good position, he found the place filled with about 100 men, whose language betrayed their character. Tobacco and wine fumes filled the small apartment, while the platform was occupied by about five young French girls, who were under directions of a big Persian 'madame.'"

"The movements were 'a la danse de ventre,' only more disgusting. Over these the crowd went wild, as some of the men were more drunk than sober. The spectacle was one which perhaps may go with impunity in Persia or a Turkish harem, but should not be allowed in a Christian country, and never in the United States."

MILTON JOHNSON.

Valedictorian at Ann Arbor—First Southerner Ever Thus Honored in a Northern University.

The University of Michigan graduated 731 students last Thursday, the largest class ever graduated by any American University. The law class alone numbered 325. Twenty-one of the graduates are from the South and five from Kentucky. The commencement oration was delivered by Hon. Chas. Dudley Warner.

The class day exercises of the senior law students on the preceding Monday were highly entertaining. The most eloquent address of the day was the valedictory delivered by Milton Johnson, of Mayslick. Mr. Johnson is the first Southerner who has ever been the valedictorian of any of the graduating classes at Ann Arbor, or any other Northern University.

The following Kentucky students had the degree of Bachelor of Laws conferred upon them: Milton Johnson, Mayslick; C. B. Blakey, Auburn; J. Y. Rice, Helena; Champ Ross, Johnson Junction; Master of Laws, M. B. Gifford, Louisville; Degree of Bachelor of Science, Hugh Rodman, Franklin.

Duplex Dental Plate.

One of the most recent developments in dental practice is the adoption of the duplex plate for artificial teeth. It is said to be specially adapted to the requirements of aged persons, as it is arranged to meet the exigencies of receding gums, and other alterations in the shape of the jaws occasioned by change of climate, variations in health and increasing years. The duplex plate comes in useful in case of accident to the ordinary plate during traveling, or otherwise, and a distinct point in its favor is its extreme lightness.

For sterling silverware—knives, forks, spoons, fancy articles and novelties—go to Ballenger, the jeweler. His goods are warranted. His stock of watches and jewelry is the best manufactured, and that's the kind to buy. Always bear that in mind.

Why pay from 15 to 20 per cent. more for watches when you can buy a fine gold watch at P. J. Murphy's, the jeweler, and save that difference? No better goods made, and I guarantee to save you the difference stated above. Now is the time to buy. Successor to Hopper & Murphy.

A fight occurred late last evening near the first toll-gate on the Mt. Carmel pike in which several men and women participated. The long session of the Legislature ended at noon Monday. The body convened December 30, 1891, and was in actual session 531 legislative days. The adjournment left twenty-four bills and resolutions on the Governor's table not yet signed or approved, but it is supposed that all of these will ultimately be signed, the Governor's signature being withheld because he has not yet had the time to consider them.

The old settlers' reunion at Ruggles' Camp ground yesterday attracted a crowd estimated at from 2,000 to 3,000. Addresses were made by Messrs. W. D. Hixson, A. A. Wadsworth and G. W. MATRIMONIAL.

An Early Morning Marriage at the Central—A Muchly-Disappointed Couple From Ohio.

C. B. McShane, a merchant of Cynthia, and Miss Mary W. Moore, daughter of John I. Moore, of Millersburg, eloped to this city last night, arriving here shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. Deputy County Clerk Lovel was aroused from his slumbers and issued the couple a license, and at 4 o'clock the nuptial ceremony was solemnized in the parlor at the Central, Judge Phister officiating. The attendants were Miss Mabel Van Dyke, of Covington, and Mr. H. D. Frisbie, Jr., of Cynthia. Colonel Mussey, of Cynthia, a friend of the groom, was also present.

A. J. Scott and Miss Clara M. Eagle, of West Union, celebrated the 4th by coming over to Maysville to get married, but they had to return home greatly disappointed. Miss Eagle, who is a petite and lovely young lady, is not yet "sweet sixteen," and as the couple had nothing to show that her parents consented to the union, County Clerk Pearce declined to grant them the coveted license. When leaving for home they said they would return again before the end of the week and would bring with them papers to prove that there is no objection on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Eagle to the marriage.

For the Farmer.

The potato crop in a twenty-mile limit around Norfolk, Va., this year amounts to 500,000 barrels. The best of them bring $3.25 a barrel. The pea crop in the same limit brought the growers $200,000 more, the berry crop fully $1,000,000, and the cabbage crop is valued at $250,000. It is estimated the truck patches in the limit given will bring their owners near $5,000,000, this year.

"It is believed," says the Atlanta Constitution, "that in the course of a few years Georgia will produce annually about ten million cans of peaches. There is money in the business, and with such an industry in full blast several valuable crops will be saved and marketed at good prices instead of being allowed to rot on the ground, as is the case now in many localities."

EXPLOSION IN A MINE

An Appalling Accident at York-shire, England.

MANY MINERS ARE ENTOMBED.

One Hundred and Ten Are Dead and But a Faint Hope For the Remaining Thirty-Five—Rescuers Greatly Retarded in Their Work by Firedamp and Gas.

LONDON, July 5.—Great excitement has been caused in Thornhill, York-shire, by an explosion that occurred in Ingram's colliery. One hundred and forty-five miners are entombed, and it is feared that the loss of life will be heavy. Rescuing parties are hard at work and four bodies have been brought to the surface.

The pit is badly blocked with fallen rock, dirt and timbers, and the progress of the rescuing parties therefore slow. It is feared that the men who escaped death in the explosion of firedamp will be suffocated by the chokedamp unless speedily rescued.

The scenes usual at the pit mouth in the case of mining accidents are being repeated in Thornhill, and considerable trouble is experienced in keeping those having relatives or friends in the mines from interfering with the work of the rescuers.

The day shift went to work as usual early in the morning. The ventilation was reported to be good. All went well until noon, when the workers at the pit mouth were startled by a muffled explosion and by clouds of dense smoke rolling up the main shaft. They tried to communicate with the workings, but found that the interior had been cut off from the shaft.

The pit managers organized an exploring party and descended slowly through the smoke. They were driven back repeatedly and eventually gave up their purpose of penetrating to the working before the foul gas should be cleared away. After taking up the bodies found at the bottom of the shaft the rescue party waited for several hours before making another descent. They then went down again.

The gas had cleared off near the shaft and they were able to examine part of the working. The bodies lay in heaps. Many were brought to the surface. Unremitting efforts are being made to reach the few miners who may still be alive. About 110 are supposed to have been killed.

The dead body of the under manager, badly burned, was found in the mine near the shaft.

The cause of the explosion has not been ascertained. There is no indication that the explosion was exceptionally violent. But the flames spread through the main airways with extraordinary rapidity, and produced an enormous amount of afterdamp. With a view to shifting the fire, some of the passages were blocked with wood and sand. The old, unused seam in which the fire appeared to be flooded.

There were terrible scenes of grief at the pit's mouth when the messenger announced that more than 100 miners were lost. One woman fell dead when she learned that her husband had been killed. The lord mayor may devote to the relief of the stricken families the fund collected for the royal wedding fetes.

BIMETALLIST CONVENTION.

One Has Been Called to Meet in Chicago, August 1.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—A. J. Warner, president of the American Bimetallist league, has issued a call for a national convention of the league to be held in Chicago beginning Aug. 1, next. It is as follows:

SEN. BUILDING, WASHINGTON, July 4.

The recent culmination of events of the greatest moment to the people of this country calls for wise counsel and determined action on the part of all patriotic citizens. A concerted purpose is manifest to seize upon the present opportunity to destroy silver as money and to establish finally and forever the single gold standard, and alone strike to change all debts to gold debts, with a never-ending rise of gold and fall of prices.

A financial disturbance, largely artificial and needless, has been created as an "object lesson," and falsely attributed to the silver law in order out of it to create a manifestation of public sentiment, under cover of which the greater crime of overthrowing the money of the constitution and establishing the single gold standard may be consummated. As a part of the same great conspiracy the mints of India have been closed and the shock is felt around the world.

Congress has been called to meet in extra session on Aug. 7. If at this session the money standard of the constitution is overthrown and the single gold standard is finally established to be extended over the world, an economic revolution will have been inaugurated more disastrous to the welfare of mankind, and especially to the producing and laboring classes, than any in the history of the world.

In view, therefore, of the threatening conditions that have arisen, and in answer to numerous appeals for action, the executive committee of the American Bimetallist league has deemed it proper to call a national convention, to be held at Chicago, beginning Aug. 1, and to continue as long as the convention directs.

All members of the league are urged to attend, and all who are in favor of maintaining the money of the constitution and opposed to the establishment of the single gold standard in the United States, without regard to party, are invited to attend and participate in the deliberations of the convention.

All economic associations and all industrial organizations are requested to send delegates to this convention. A special invitation is extended to members of congress and members of state legislatures.

Governors of states are requested to appoint as many delegates as they may deem proper.

By order of the executive committee.
A. J. WARNER, President.
W. M. BARRINGTON, Secretary.

TWO RECORDS BROKEN.

Some Fast Time Made Over a Kite-Shaped Track.

KIRKWOOD, Del., July 5.—Two records were broken on the Maple Valley Trotting association kite-shaped track yesterday. Saladin, owned and driven by James Green of this city, paced a mile in 2:05 3-4, beating Mascot, owned by N. P. Taylor and driven by W. J. Andrews. Saladin's record was 2:09 3-4 and Mascot's 2:04, both made in exhibition races. The time of 2:5 3-4 made yesterday beats the record for pacing in a race made by Guy.

John Hamlin of Parkersville, L. I., sent his trotter, Ayres P, to a pole with Telephone as a running mate, making the mile in 2:03 1-2, and breaking another world's record formerly held by Winship, 2:06.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is for sale by J. James Wood. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses, only 25c. Children love it.
